- Reduce, reuse, recycle. C2O was founded with the aim to encourage more efficient, collaborative production and consumption. Don't be wasteful with resources. That means: don't leave water running, turn off lights when you leave a room, print on both sides of paper, keep plastic use to a minimum, etc.
- Our space, properties, and books are precious to many: if you damage or lose it, replace or pay for it. Please be careful when you are handling items that may damage our materials, e.g. food, liquid, sharp items, paints, cigarettes, lighter, etc. We trust you to be a responsible adult. If you damage a book, spill your coffee, then replace it so others can still use it.

C2O library & collabtive is an independent library and a co-working space that aims to create a shared, nurturing space, tools and resources for humans (and non-humans) for learning, working, and connecting with diverse communities and surrounding environment. In other words, with the world around them.

It is created and maintained by many; it is funded through membership fees, pay-per-use fees of facilities (e.g. book and equipment rent, venue hire, etc), ticketed programs (tours, classes, workshops, etc.), services, and product sales.
